

HONORING CONGRESSMAN JUDGE TED POE OF THE U.S. CONGRESSIONAL VICTIMS' RIGHTS CAUCUS UPON HIS RETIREMENT FROM CONGRESS

HON. JIM COSTA

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, December 6, 2018

Mr. COSTA. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor a great Texas public servant, fellow founder of the Victims' Rights Caucus, and dear friend Congressman Judge TED POE, who is retiring from the U.S. House of Representatives at the end of the 115th Congress.

Since 2005, Congressman POE has served with distinction as a Member of Congress, providing excellent and compassionate service to his constituents in the 2nd Congressional District of Texas and the American people. For more than a decade, I have had the privilege of serving with him on the Victims' Rights Caucus, which has given a voice to crime victims, survivors, and the professionals who assist them. As a founder and co-chair of the caucus, Congressman POE played a crucial role in enhancing Federal programs that support national, Federal, Tribal, state, and local victims' services, including the Victims of Crime Act, the Violence Against Women Act, and the Victims of Child Abuse Act. Over the years, he has distinguished himself as a national bipartisan leader in the fight to combat human trafficking and support victims and survivors, sponsoring enacted legislation such as the Justice for Victims of Trafficking Act. In addition to the Victims' Rights Caucus, I also had the pleasure of serving with Congressman POE on the Transatlantic Legislators' Dialogue to strengthen and enhance the level of political discourse between American and European lawmakers.

Prior to working in Congress, Representative POE served in the United States Air Force Reserves, taught both high school and college courses, and received his law degree from the University of Houston. He first made his mark in the public eye during his eight years as an undefeated criminal prosecutor for Harris County and later became one of the youngest judges ever appointed in Texas. During his 22-year tenure on the bench, it became clear that he would play a prominent role in the victims' rights movement. Congressman POE handed out innovative, unorthodox, and appropriate punishments intended to continually remind criminals of their offenses. As a judge, he became an example for others who served in the Texas judiciary for the way he treated victims of crime with dignity, fairness, and respect.

TED is admired by his peers and loved by his constituents—a reflection of a life spent in service to the United States, its people, and its ideals. During his time in Congress, he gave a voice to victims of crime, including human trafficking, and championed legislation to improve our criminal justice system. His remarkable impact on both his community and colleagues will not be forgotten. We will honor his great legacy in the U.S. House of Representatives and beyond, by continuing to build upon this commitment to his country. I would like to congratulate Congressman Judge TED POE on his extraordinary career and extend my gratitude for his noteworthy contributions to our nation. While Congressman Judge TED POE will be missed in these halls, I wish him a blessed future in his well-deserved retirement.

HONORING SUPERVISOR SIMÓN SALINAS

HON. JIMMY PANETTA

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, December 6, 2018

Mr. PANETTA. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize retiring Monterey County Supervisor Simón Salinas for his distinguished career serving the people of the central coast of California. His dedication to education has bettered many young lives, and his commitment to public service has immeasurably improved the lives of his constituents.

Supervisor Salinas began his career as a sixth-grade teacher and later became a professor at Hartnell College. During this time, he developed a passion for educating Monterey County's youth and expanding opportunity for young learners. Supervisor Salinas' first foray into politics came with his involvement in local activism organizing for proportional representation of California's Latino community in local governing bodies. Until this effort, local governing bodies in Monterey County used "at large" elections, where elected officials were chosen by the total population that the governing body represented, rather than by individual districts that more accurately represented the diverse communities within an area. In the City of Salinas, despite its large Mexican-American population, a Latino candidate had never been elected to the City Council. Supervisor Salinas became a leader in this movement, eventually running for an open seat on the Salinas City Council. In 1989, Supervisor Salinas became the first Mexican-American ever elected to the Salinas City Council.

In 1993, Supervisor Salinas was elected to represent District One on the Monterey County Board of Supervisors and served as the body's chair, the first Mexican-American to serve on the Board in 100 years. In 2000, he was elected as the representative for California's 28th Assembly District. During his tenure as Assemblymember, Supervisor Salinas worked on many important issues such as healthcare, agriculture, and affordable housing. His signature achievement during his time in the state legislature came during his service as Chair of the Assembly of Local Government Committee. During this time, Supervisor Salinas introduced and successfully passed AB 1234, a bill requiring local elected officials to attend mandatory ethics training and abide by strict requirements for expense reimbursement policies, thus creating a comprehensive policy to protect taxpayer funds from local corruption. Monterey County welcomed Supervisor Salinas back to the Board of Supervisors in 2007, where he was elected to represent District Three. Recently, he has expanded affordable housing, healthcare, and economic opportunity to the residents of the Salinas Valley.

I am immensely grateful for Supervisor Simón Salinas's distinguished service to the people of the central coast of California. Mr. Speaker, I ask that my colleagues join me in congratulating Supervisor Simón Salinas on his distinguished career in public service, and in wishing him a long and happy retirement.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. C.A. DUTCH RUPPERSBERGER

OF MARYLAND

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, December 6, 2018

Mr. RUPPERSBERGER. Mr. Speaker, due to my attendance at an event off the Capitol Hill campus, I was unable to make roll call votes No. 423 through 425. Had I been present, I would have voted in the following manner: No. 423, NO on agreeing to the Resolution; No. 424, YES on Motion to Suspend the Rules and Pass; and No. 425, YES on Motion to Suspend the Rules and Pass, as Amended.

HONORING FANNIE LOU HAMER

HON. BENNIE G. THOMPSON

OF MISSISSIPPI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, December 6, 2018

Mr. THOMPSON of Mississippi. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor a remarkable historical activist, Fannie Lou Hamer.

She was born as Fannie Lou Townsend on October 6, 1917, to sharecroppers Lou Ella and James Lee Townsend, east of the Mississippi Delta in Montgomery County, Mississippi. She first joined her family to work in the cotton fields at age six.

In the early 1940s she married Perry "Pap" Hamer, and adopted two daughters, girls whose own families were unable to care for them.

She worked alongside her husband at the W.D. Marlow's plantation near Ruleville, in Sunflower County. Hamer's ability to read and write earned her the job of timekeeper, a less physically demanding and more prestigious job within the sharecropping system.

In the summer of 1962, Hamer made a life-changing decision to attend a protest meeting where she encountered civil rights activists and became active in helping with the voter registration efforts for African Americans.

Hamer dedicated her life to the fight for civil rights, working for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC). The organization was driven by mostly African American students who indulged in acts of civil disobedience—combatting racial segregation and injustice in the South.

During her activist career, Hamer was threatened, arrested, and shot at. In jail, Hamer and several of the activists were beaten by other African American inmates, whom received orders from the police to use black-jack weapons. Despite the long term damage done to her body, none of these things deterred her from her work.

Hamer loved to sing spirituals. "This Little Light of Mine" and "Go Tell It on the Mountain," became one of the defining features of her activism.

Hamer's also known for her famous quote, "I'm sick and tired of being sick and tired."

In 1964, Hamer helped found the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party, which was established in opposition to the state's all-white delegation to that year's Democratic convention.

The civil rights struggle in Mississippi was brought to the attention of the entire nation during a televised session at the convention. The following year, Hamer ran for Congress in Mississippi, but was unsuccessful in her bid.

Along with her political activism, Hamer worked to help the poor and families in need in her Mississippi community. She also set up organizations to increase business opportunities for minorities and to provide childcare and other family services.

Hamer died on March 14, 1977 in Mound Bayou, Mississippi from complications associated with heart disease and cancer.

Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in recognizing Fannie Lou Hamer for her contributions to her family, her community, and the fight for Civil Rights that was her driving passion.

ADOPTEE CITIZENSHIP ACT

HON. BRAD SHERMAN

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, December 6, 2018

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, last week, I cosponsored H.R. 5233, The Adoptee Citizenship Act of 2018. This is bipartisan legislation that seeks to make an important correction to U.S. adoption law.

Currently, when a child is legally adopted by an American parent and is raised by the family here in the U.S., they automatically acquire U.S. citizenship. However, when Congress updated the law, it failed to address the situation for thousands of families with previously adopted children. We need to correct that, which is why I support H.R. 5233.

This legislation does not create a new loophole that allows anyone to game the system. These are individuals who legally entered the U.S. They were legally adopted as children, and they grew up here believing they were U.S. citizens. Unfortunately, through no fault of the children, adoptive parents in several thousand cases failed to properly file all of the citizenship papers on behalf of their adoptive children, often not realizing that it was even necessary after completion of the legal adoption process. If you were legally adopted by an American family, entered the U.S. legally as a child, and raised in the United States, you are an American. I look forward to working with both my Republican and Democratic colleagues on this bipartisan effort.

HONORING JASON KNEELAND

HON. LUKE MESSER

OF INDIANA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, December 6, 2018

Mr. MESSER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to recognize a former member of my staff, Jason Kneeland, for his work in my office and his service to our state.

Jason served as my Chief of Staff in Indiana for nearly two years. In that role, he managed our district offices, improved our constituent outreach programs, and oversaw our political operations. Jason is one of our state's top political minds and there is no doubt that I wouldn't be where I am today without his counsel.

On a personal note, Jason and I share a love of the life lessons of sports and a commitment to putting faith and family first. He is one of my favorite people to talk to. I want to thank Jason for his friendship and his hard work in our office. I wish him continued success in all God has planned for him and his family.

HONORING TACO PALENQUE

HON. VICENTE GONZALEZ

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, December 6, 2018

Mr. GONZALEZ of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize Taco Palenque and all of its diligent employees. This year, Taco Palenque celebrates 20 years in the Rio Grande Valley, and I could not be happier to have such talented entrepreneurs in my district.

In 1987, Juan Francisco Ochoa opened the first Taco Palenque restaurant where families could come together over authentic Mexican food. Over two decades later, Taco Palenque has taken both the Valley and Texas by storm with locations in San Antonio, Houston, Brownsville, and, of course, McAllen. I look forward to watching them continue to grow in South Texas and beyond.

Mr. Speaker, it is my honor to represent the hard-working individuals of Taco Palenque. Their recent success is a shining example of what the 15th District of Texas has to offer.

RECOGNIZING HUNTER M. STRUPP

HON. EDWARD R. ROYCE

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, December 6, 2018

Mr. ROYCE of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to express my gratitude to Hunter Strupp, who has worked in my office since 2005. Hunter has excelled in various staff positions: he faithfully served in my personal office; as a staff member on the Terrorism, Nonproliferation, and Trade Subcommittee; on the House Foreign Affairs Committee; and most recently, as Staff Director for the Subcommittee on Asia and the Pacific, chaired by Chairman TED YOHIO.

During his service to the Committee, Hunter was an invaluable asset in crafting Committee policy on North Korea, culminating in the passage of ground-breaking sanctions legislation. He has been a key advisor on a wide range of policy issues confronting the Asian continent, from human rights in Vietnam, political crackdowns in Cambodia, and the plight of the Rohingya in Burma. He served as my staff member when I chaired the Congressional Caucus on India, and the Korea Caucus, successfully advancing important policy issues facing each partnership. Hunter is a deeply dedicated, determined, and principled foreign affairs professional.

I again want to thank Hunter for his 13 years of service and for his valuable counsel. He will no doubt contribute to our nation's well-being and security for years to come.

PAYING TRIBUTE TO MARISSA MANLOVE ON THE OCCASION OF HER RETIREMENT AS PRESIDENT AND CEO OF THE INDIANA PHILANTHROPY ALLIANCE

HON. SUSAN W. BROOKS

OF INDIANA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, December 6, 2018

Mrs. BROOKS of Indiana. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor my friend, Marissa Manlove, on the occasion of her retirement from the Indiana Philanthropy Alliance. Throughout her impressive career, Marissa served as a leader within the nonprofit community in Indiana. For the past twelve years, she served as President and CEO, promoting independent, family, community, public, and corporate foundations, giving programs, and grantmaking organizations throughout the state of Indiana. The people of Indiana's Fifth Congressional District are forever grateful for Marissa's commitment to transforming Indiana through her roles in various nonprofit organizations.

A life-long Hoosier, Marissa attended Schulte High School in Terre Haute, Indiana, before earning a bachelor's degree in psychology from Saint Louis University. Her academic aspirations led her to Indiana University where she earned her master's degree in educational psychology. Passionate about positive change, Marissa began her career with Noble of Indiana, a nonprofit organization dedicated to serving persons with intellectual and other disabilities. She spent the next twenty-nine years at Noble in various senior program management roles, overseeing communications and marketing, special events, development and eventually becoming the Vice President of Consumer and External Relations. Ever dedicated, she still sits on their Board of Directors today.

In 2007, Marissa shifted her commitment to supporting philanthropy when she became President and CEO of the Indiana Philanthropy Alliance (IPA). IPA is a large, influential membership association for the state of Indiana's philanthropic grantmaking community. It provides training, networking opportunities, research, resources and public policy support to its members, which control over $18 billion in assets and award over $775 million in grants per year. Under her leadership, IPA membership grew to an all-time high and today is a national leader among regional associations of grantmakers.

In 2006, Marissa and her husband, Kim, founded the 24 Group in honor of their late son, David. The all-volunteer nonprofit organization is led by a group of parents with the common experience of losing a loved one who struggled with addiction. Their work is dedicated to informing and educating the Central Indiana population about addiction and recovery. In addition, she has continued to be a community leader through her service on the boards of the United Philanthropy Forum, Indiana Society of Association Executives, Forum of Regional Associations of Grantmakers, Bowen Center for Public Affairs, Hope Academy, the Indiana Nonprofits Advisory Board, and Fairbanks.

Her many awards are a testament to the exceptional work ethic of this incredibly talented individual. In 2006, Marissa received the
